

C 3300 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

Babyloni
There was invasion of MAGAN, near Sinai.

Temples were built at NIPPUR; AGADE;
and SIPPUR.

Outer wall at Nippur was begun

C3317-305780

Early Bronze Age I

Farming villages. Founded at new sites. Few sites reached any size. ARAD (northern NEGEV) was exception - made most of rare rainfall.

3300 BC

Silk moth domesticated in China.

3300 BC

Man begins to cultivate rice in the Far East.

3300 BC

Silk moth domesticated in China

3300 BC

1912 Dates' J-BK

A papyrus on "Ethics" was written during the reign of TAT-KA-RA by PTAH-HOTEP, probably the oldest manuscript
in the world

3300 BC at End of Stone Age in Europe

A hunter was going across Tyrolean Alps in Northern Italy. Was preserved (mummified) where he froze to death (discovered 1991)

Apparently people used a natural laxative & antibiotic: Fruit of the birch fungus: Peptoporus betulinus. It can bring on a short bout of diarrhea. No other rose oils. He was stiff with Arthritis. He had not eaten in his last 8 hours

His Colon had eggs of parasite whipworm TRICHURIS TRICHURA (causing diarrhea & acute stomach pains)

"The man in the Ice" Book published 1994

3300-3100 BC

Egypt

Late Prehistoric times, differences in wealth and social position in Egyptian society had already become marked.